

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. The federal government has no business interfering with Indiana's telephone privacy laws. Prior to signing up for Indiana's "No Call List" my family received AT LEAST 3 calls nightly from telemarketers. Now, after signing up for the "No Call List" we receive no more than one call PER WEEK from telemarketers. Adding my family's phone number to Indiana's No Call List has substantially reduced the number of unwanted telephone solicitors.
